

Service & Maintenance

Helping to give you peace of mind

We're sure you'll find our service and maintenance to be a vital resource. Whether you're already a CIA customer or if you are considering how best to maintain your existing systems.

Our highly skilled team of engineers can provide both onsite and remote forms of preventative maintenance. Helping you remain compliant and ensuring your system continues to operate to its full potential.

More than just a security provider

24/7 coverage 365 days per week is available should you choose it. Our call centre is always available to assist, and our remote technical support team can often correct an issue without a need for a call out.

Saving time and delivering value

For continued peace of mind, a CIA service and maintenance package provides a more efficient option that will save you time, inconvenience and ultimately provide better value.

With our team of highly skilled technicians kept up to date with technological developments, you can always be assured of the highest levels of service and support.
